

Hello Wem Town Council

The prices charged in our local Co-op can only be described as excessive compared to other market chains. Is because they feel they have a captive audience and can charge what they like.

Can an investigation be carried out to see if an Aldi or Lidl could be encouraged to set up in the town to drive up competition and reduce prices. This would bring in more jobs and encourage more people to shop locally within the town.

Kind regards

[REDACTED]